Absolute concentrations of stabile species and radicals in acetylene plasma

Mariana Osiac

Faculty of Physics, University of Craiova, 200585 Craiova, Romania

Abstract
The paper presents the measurements by means of tunable diode laser absorption spectroscopy of the hydrocarbons produced in a microwave plasma ignited in acetylene. The absolute concentrations of the main radicals as CH₃ and the stabile species were measured. The simple chemical model is predicting the main reaction paths.